

Most people try using the belt in this fashion, just passing the loose end thru cam buckle. We find that on the SCUBA branded ones that seems fine but on these buckles we suggest using the following method.

Feed the loose end thru one of the slots in the buckle.

Continue to feed thru jaw area to desired position and then completely close buckle and this should add significant holding power.